

127th MAINTENANCE GROUP

LINEAGE

127th Maintenance and Supply Group

127th Logistics Group

127th Maintenance Group

STATIONS

Selfridge ANGB, Mt Clemens, MI

ASSIGNMENTS

COMMANDERS

Col Gregory S. Holzhei, 1 Mar 09 – Present

HONORS

Service Streamers

Campaign Streamers

Armed Forces Expeditionary Streamers

Decorations

EMBLEM

EMBLEM SIGNIFICANCE

MOTTO

NICKNAME

OPERATIONS

May 2007—Col John Thiesen, commander of the 127th Maintenance Group deployed to Bagram AB, Afghanistan to take command of the 455th Expeditionary Maintenance Group.

January 2009—The 127th WG begins maintenance training of some 366 wing members on the A-10 Thunderbolt. Among the many challenges the guardsmen faced while converting from the F-16 to the A-10 was the loading of the 30mm ammunition into the aircraft via the Ammunition Loading Adapter (aka the "dragon"). The 30 mm GAU-8A Avenger sevenbarreled Gatling gun is unique to the A-10 and a far cry from the 20mm Vulcan cannon used by the wing's F-16s.

---

Air Force Order of Battle

Created: 8 Oct 2010

Updated:

Sources