OPERATIONS

The role of the 148th Security Forces Squadron is to ensure maximum protection of assigned personnel and resources during peace, war or contingency operations at home and abroad. This unit specializes in ground combat, weapon training and instruction, law enforcement and overall security of the base to include the ramps, runways and taxiways. After September 11, 2001 the 148th Security Forces Squadron mobilized with Army National Guard military police units to augment security missions around the country. The Security Forces Squadron is also involved in programs that place members in missions around the country, as well as outside the United States.
